Fall 2010 Group Classes

Senior Scribes (Grades 6-8)

Senior Scribes courses bring excitement into the creative process and laughter to the inane world of grammar and verbiage. At Scribble Press, students don't let the pressure of school take away from the fun that writing and language can be. Our scribes advance their writing skills, sentence structure and organization as they explore their creativity. Each semester culminates in the creation of a bound book that children write and illustrate themselves.

▶ Mysterious Me: A Young Author's Workshop

Students will spend a fascinating semester exploring the ways to unravel a mystery story using first-person narrative. Take a peek at and then take apart some of the best books out there for inspiration. This is a class determined to help writers develop a voice in storytelling. Student work will be published for everyone to share with friends and family. Cost: $726

▶ Voluminous Vocabulary – A Cartoon Dictionary

Let's face it – our kids are expected to know more and more words every year. Because all that memorizing can seem daunting, people sometimes forget that WORDS ARE FUN!!! After creating their very own dictionary of cartoon mnemonics (silly pictures to help them remember), students will be laughing at how easily they can master hundreds of words in a single semester. Cost: $726

▶ Non-Guru's Grammar Guide – An Illustrated How-To

There is no better way to be sure you know the rules for writing correctly than to write your own grammar book. At Scribble Press, we know how important it is to be able to write clearly and effectively. This class specializes in highlighting "the silly" in the mistakes we sometimes make in our writing. "Can you spot the mistake?" Swimming leisurely along the shore, the rain ruined the day for the walrus. Cost: $726
